

Two Federal Agencies Promise Aid To State County Schools Need Testing Program

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is one of a series of articles on Monroe County education. Each will be based on the results of the county-wide survey conducted by the author for The Daily Record.

By Leonard Randolph

MONROE COUNTY schools need a complete testing program for all children. They do not, at present, have one.

This is a major conclusion drawn from answers in The Daily Record survey.

In response to the first question in the survey ("How can we identify our more able students at an early age, improve their instructions and thus challenge their abilities?") more than 80 percent of all those answering have endorsed testing as the basic means for identification of above-average students.

What does testing mean as it is used in the survey answers?

First, it does NOT mean the simple establishment of the child's "intelligence quotient" (IQ). Although this is important, it is only a small part of the testing program as outlined in survey answers.

According to replies, the program should include tests which would show the child's aptitudes in many fields, his psychological makeup and his ability to understand or learn skills.

Although the survey indicates that some county schools do have fairly complete testing programs there is a strong belief that the test results, even in these schools, are never really put to use.

In one area of educational testing in Monroe County, improvements have apparently been made rapidly during recent months. Answers to the survey indicate that psychological tests administered through the county education office are better, more controlled and more beneficial than ever before.

But what is happening in most schools?

Tests are being given to show the child's aptitudes in most instances. But there is a strong feeling that the tests should come earlier, and that they should be more consistently "followed up" throughout the child's education career.

Much of the burden of identifying the unusually able child is falling back on the classroom teacher. Does it belong there?

Most of those answering the survey agree that it does. No one is better able to identify the child's individual characteristics or talents than the teacher or the parent. They spend the most time with the child. They observe him at his best—and at his worst. They see him when he is conscious that he is being watched. But they can also study him when he does not know his actions are being scrutinized.

The answer to identification of the child's abilities lies, therefore, in a combination of two elements:

1—A broader, more thorough and more purposeful testing program started earlier in the child's school career.

2—Classroom teachers who have the ability to identify special abilities.

In all cases these two would work together. As local educators see it, "identification" is not a difficult process.

One teacher summed it up this way:

"It is easy to identify the able student—if more room and less pupils per teacher were possible."

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP)—Richard A. Mack denied under a barrage of questions today that he has been influenced by anybody in his 2½ years on the Federal Communications Commission.

Mack emerged smiling but obviously tired from a day-long session before the House Legislative Oversight subcommittee dealing with a determination not to resign under fire.

"Of course not" was his reply to questions about the possibility of his quitting. The question followed in the wake of testimony linking him financially with a Miami lawyer who for a time backed the successful bid of a National Airlines subsidiary for a Miami TV license.

Mack did say on the witness stand, however, that for all practical purposes he had put his finances completely in the hands of the attorney and his lifelong friend, Thurman A. Whiteside.

Commissioner

The commissioner said he had only the haziest knowledge of how more than $10,000 in loans and advances made to him by Whiteside in recent years were repaid.

And he testified he knew little or nothing about a Miami insurance agency in which Whiteside gave him a one-sixth interest, or about a holding company which the Miami lawyer likewise turned over to him—with no outlay of money on Mack's part in either case.

The youthful appearing Mack, 48, himself a Miami native, swore that Whiteside never tried to influence his decisions.

Neither, he said, did anyone else on behalf of the National Airlines outlet which won the Miami license. Mack said a rival applicant, radio station owner A. Frank Katzentine, had "intense" support for his bid.

Mack voted in favor of National although, before going on the commission, he had endorsed Katzentine's application.

Public Works Projects To Cut Unemployment

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP)—Two federal agencies agreed today to join in Pennsylvania's fight against rising unemployment by speeding their processing of public works projects.

Gov. Leader of Pennsylvania reported that Bertram D. Tallamy, federal highways administrator, agreed to expedite the handling of some 28 million dollars worth of interstate road building projects in the Commonwealth.

A similar promise to accelerate housing projects scheduled for Pennsylvania came from Federal Housing Administrator Albert M. Cole, Leader said.

Discussions

The governor visited the heads of the two agencies after a lively 2½ hour meeting with most of Pennsylvania's congressional delegation in which ways to combat unemployment in the state were discussed.

The governor said he came to Washington to urge federal agencies to adopt the same "spirit of acceleration" of public works projects that he said he has been attempting to instill in Pennsylvania.

Leader was accompanied by five state Cabinet members, who brought along bundles of statistics and planned programs.

"I was pleased to find that some of them already felt that way and are ready and anxious to cooperate with us," Leader told newsmen.

"It is better to take existing agencies, particularly grant-in-aid programs, which already have a working organization and accelerate them than to create new organizations that must begin from scratch."

The highway program which Tallamy agreed to expedite includes projects which might otherwise take several months to process. Among them are the proposed $401,750 Route 230 bypass for Harrisburg; the $2,060,800 Duncannon bypass in Perry and Dauphin counties; a stretch of the Pennsylvania Parkway in Allegheny County to cost $1,519,500, and a $393,200 highway project at Chester Hill and Morrisdale, Clearfield County.

No Limitation

Leader said he also was told by Budget Director Percival Brundage there is no limitation on appropriations allocated to the Army Engineers for civil works construction. Leader said he previously had been informed that Army Engineers are permitted only to spend 80 per cent of the project money allocated to them.

At the meeting with the congressional delegation there was general agreement that enactment of legislation to provide federal aid to industry in depressed areas would be a big boost in the fight against rising unemployment.

Leader told the bipartisan delegation that "people are getting pretty disenchanted by promises of both political parties" to secure passage of the bill and seeing no results.

Rep. Saylor, one of seven Republican congressmen in attendance, asked the Democrats present if they would support any such bill, whether it be the administration measure or one with a Democratic label.

Sen. Clark and Rep. Flood, Democrats, said they would. They, with Saylor and numerous other Pennsylvania congressmen have cosponsored various versions of the plan.

Uncertainty

The meeting began with some uncertainty as to its outcome since 10 Republicans were absent and some of them had attempted to label the governor's conference as a political maneuver.

Other recommendations included extending small business credit, reviving the matching-aid program under which depressed areas get a second chance if outbid for government contracts, broadening of minimum wage standards, and development of the Delaware River Valley.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP)—A former sheriff testified today he was "absolutely bounced" out of the Republican party for refusing to use guns against pickets outside the Kohler Co. plant in Kohler, Wis.

Theodore J. Mosch told the story to the Senate Rackets Committee, which is investigating violence in the 4-year-old strike of the United Auto Workers against the Wisconsin plumbing fixtures firm.

Under questioning by Sen. Mundt (R-S.D.), Mosch conceded there could have been some connection between his getting bounced and his accepting a $300 campaign contribution from the UAW in the fall of 1954.

Mosch said he was sheriff of Sheboygan County, Wis., when the strike began in 1954 and mass picketing kept the Kohler plant shut down for 54 days.

Receives Letter

He testified he got a letter from Robert W. Haynes, chairman of the Sheboygan County Republican Committee, demanding a "prompt reply" as to what he planned to do to halt mass picketing.

He never answered the letter, Mosch said, and later Haynes visited him at the sheriff's office and told him: "You have the authority to use firearms. Use them."

"Are you a Republican?" Committee Chairman McClellan (D-Ark.) inquired.

"I was until they bounced me," Mosch replied. "I had no choice. I was absolutely bounced."

Sen. Ervin (D-NC) asked the witness whether he really meant that he was thrown out of the party for refusing to use guns against the pickets.

"I believe that is true, yes," Mosch said. He added that "if the Republicans don't want me, maybe the Democrats do." Mosch was defeated for re-election last year.

Fear of Bloodshed

Mosch told the senators he was convinced the appearance of firearms would have caused bloodshed in the tense situation at Kohler and that innocent persons might have been among the victims.

Both he and Lawrence Schmitz, his undersheriff in 1954, said they thought it would have been unwise to use force and possibly create a situation which could not have been controlled with the manpower they had available.

35 Killed In British Plane Crash

BOLTON, England, Feb. 27 (AP)—An airliner crowded with jovial car dealers crashed today into a blizzard-whipped mountain, killing 35 men.

Eight persons, several with severe injuries, survived the grinding smashup in the deep snowdrifts on Winter Hill in the heart of the desolate Lancashire moorland. Among the survivors were the three crew members.

One of the eight died later at a hospital.

Frantic Signal

Frantic signals from the five engineers at a lonely television relay tower 400 yards away touched off an all-out rescue operation. Helicopters and bulldozers fought their way through wild weather to the crash scene.

It was the second disaster this month in which a Manchester-bound chartered plane figured. A plane carrying the champion Manchester United football team home from a match in Yugoslavia crashed Feb. 6 at Munich, Germany, on its third attempt to take off in a snowstorm.

Rescuers found the twin-engined charter plane, a Bristol Wayfarer, shattered into three pieces and lying on churned-up snow flecked with blood. It came down only 15 miles from its destination at Manchester.

The plane, owned by Silver City Airways and carrying a crew of three, was bringing 39 automobile dealers from the Isle of Man to visit a Manchester battery factory.

The survivors included the only woman aboard, stewardess Jennifer Curtis.

Miss Curtis, daughter of an English vicar, staggered from the wreck and linked forces with co-pilot William Howarth who was dazedly stumbling around in circles.

Shocked and exhausted, the pair struggled through knee-deep snow to the television station.

"Our plane has crashed," they gasped.

Three helicopters took off with doctors and nurses from a nearby air base. Ambulances led by bulldozers and snow plows failed to get within a mile of the wreck because of drifts five feet deep. One helicopter was able to put down at the scene.

Rescuers who got through on foot with blankets, stretchers and medicines carried survivors down the mountainsides to ambulances. One of those put aboard an ambulance was the pilot, still conscious.

Red Cross Prepares For Campaign

IF EVERY contributor to the 1958 Red Cross campaign for members and funds will increase his contribution by a few cents, each major donor by a few dollars, and the number of contributors is increased by a few thousand, Monroe County will reach its goal of $18,427.

That was the challenge held out to the captains in the drive which opens on Saturday by Henry Scheirer, of Allentown, vice president of the National Red Cross.

Monroe County in 1957 reached 96 per cent of its quota. The country as a whole reached only 88 per cent. The difference in the quota and the actual money raised handicapped the organization in its work during the past year, he said.

"The work of the Red Cross is fundamentally the preservation of life," he noted, "not improvement of character, advancing a political philosophy, improving people's minds or enlarging their vision. Worthy as those objects may be, the preservation of life must come first."

In disasters, for instance, he pointed out that the Red Cross assisted in an average of six disasters a week during the past year, spending $4,600 each day for rehabilitation of victims, requiring 85 per cent of each dollar and for emergency care, which requires 15 per cent.

In its service to members of the armed forces, one out of three servicemen have been helped, and one out of 50 veterans, during the year.

The Red Cross Blood program provides two out of five pints of the blood used in all hospitals throughout the nation, and has made the nation conscious of the humanitarian value of volunteer blood.

The Red Cross has also 9,900 nurses trained for disaster service, thousands trained in Red Cross home nursing, first aid, and water safety, all designed for the preservation of life.

Two million volunteers serve under the Red Cross in this country, Scheirer said.

He was introduced to the captains, meeting in the Regatta Room of the Penn-Stroud Hotel by the chairman of the 1958 campaign, Harold Ingraham.

Captains in the county's districts were presented with information sheets showing the population of their district, the amount contributed last year and the current quota.

Captains are: Stroudsburg, Mrs. Clifford Heller, Mrs. Ida Kunkle and Mrs. H. J. Pine Jr.; East Stroudsburg, Mrs. Arthur Blewitt, Barrett, Barrett Fund; Stroud Township, Allen Keiper; Coolbaugh Township, Mrs. James Lynch; Smithfield, Mrs. Walter Wyckoff; Paradise, Leonard Rinaldi; Hamilton, Mrs. Karlene Muddell; Chestnut Hill, William Fisher; Delaware Water Gap, Mrs. Jack LaBar; Eldred, Mrs. Adan Bohner; Pocono Township, Mrs. Joseph Williams; Mount Pocono, Mrs. David Kohn; Tobyhanna Township, Thomas Smith; Middle Smithfield, Mrs. Robert Doyle; Ross, Mrs. Ambrose Altomero; Polk, James Gould; Jackson, Mrs. James Heltman; Tunkhannock, Mrs. Thomas Smith; Price, Mrs. Roderick MacLeod.

Blizzards Rage On West Plains

By The Associated Press

BLIZZARD conditions raged in the western prairies yesterday while colliding cold and warm air masses triggered new storms in the southeast.

Arctic air streamed down into the midcontinent, driving midday temperatures to the zero mark near the North Dakota-Canadian border.

High winds whirling around a huge low pressure system centered in Missouri buffeted most of the nation east of the continental divide.

High Winds

Winds of more than 50 m.p.h. plastered a 4-inch snow blanket across parts of central Kansas. Vision was limited to only a few feet in the blowing snow.

The storm, dumping up to eight inches of snow in parts of the northern plains, was accompanied by a surge of arctic cold. The heavy snow belt extended from Kansas northward.

Skies cleared over parts of the Gulf States where twisters left at least 12 dead and nearly 70 injured Wednesday night. However, the storm moved eastward into Georgia and South Carolina.

An early morning tornado struck south of Defuniak Springs, Fla., Thursday smashing one home and tearing another from its foundations. No one was reported injured.

Mild rainy weather was the rule in most sections east of the Mississippi River, although some snow fell in northern New York. Some sleet was mixed with rain in the northeast.

Strong, gusty winds carried dust clouds across the Gulf States as far eastward as Florida and northward into parts of Tennessee. Hail spewed from thunderstorms in parts of eastern Tennessee.

A few snow flurries continued across the Rockies and through parts of the plateau states. Fair weather prevailed elsewhere in the west. At midday Thursday, freezing weather extended as far southward as the northern Oklahoma border. Readings in the 50s and 60s were the rule from Texas eastward, with 70s recorded in Georgia and South Carolina and the low 80s in parts of Florida.

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla., Feb. 27 (AP)—An Army Redstone missile streaked upward for more than two minutes today, vanishing after a puff of white smoke as a silver pin-prick in the blue Florida sky.

The 200-mile-range missile, aimed at a preselected impact area down the Atlantic Ocean range, was launched at 3 p.m., after standing all night in the rain and wind.

It was not announced whether the Redstone had hit its target area.

The Redstone is in production and in the hands of U.S. Army troops. A modified Redstone forms the first stage of the satellite-launching Jupiter-C vehicle.

Cloud Shadow

For about half an hour after its gaudy working crane was rolled back, the Redstone stood slender and white. Alternately it was bathed in sunlight or nearly lost in cloud shadow.

Then orange-yellow flame shot from its tail. It rose slowly at first, gathering speed and piercing the clouds like a fragile white needle.

The Redstone arched slightly toward the southeast trailing a long expanding cloud of vapor for maybe 20 seconds. Then after the vapor suddenly disappeared, the Redstone belched another short tail of smoke.

State Hires Consultant

HARRISBURG, Feb. 27 (AP)—The State Highways Department today hired a Washington, D. C., consultant for $8,500 to tell it what's wrong with its right-of-way operations and organization.

Lewis M. Stevens, highways secretary, said Henry J. Maltenbach, president of Right-of-way and Legislative Consultants, Inc., will begin the study aimed at finding ways of improving the two operations.

Maltenbach is to complete the survey by July 1, and submit a written report containing his recommendations.

Senate Defeats Morse Postal Proposal

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP)—The Senate today defeated 71-17 an effort by Sen. Morse (R-Ore) to increase second-class postal rates for newspapers and magazines by 30 per cent during each of the next three years.

Morse first proposed a 40 per cent increase in each of the next three years but just before the roll call vote he revised this to 30 per cent.

In other actions the Senate:

1. Refused by a roll call vote of 47-40 to knock out the 5-cent rate on nonlocal letters which it adopted last night by a vote of 49-42. Today's vote was on a motion by Sen. Monroney (D-Okla.), who sought to limit the increase on first-class mail, local and unlocal, to 4 cents. The present rate is 3 cents.

2. Voted to permit U. S. Servicemen stationed overseas to send letters back to this country free of charge. Sponsors of this provision, Sens. Morse, Yarborough (D-Tex.) and Proxmire (D-Wis.), dropped a clause that would have permitted letters to be sent free to servicemen overseas.

3. Rejected 57-33 an amendment by Sens. Clark (D-Pa.) and Proxmire to limit to $1-800,000 a year the amount of mail subsidy that any magazine publisher could receive.

WASHINGTON—A measure authorizing more than one billion dollars in each of the 1960 and 1961 fiscal years for federal highway spending, apart from the big interstate road program, will come before the House Public Works Committee next Thursday for a final vote.

The committee this week rejected administration proposals to hold down the cost of the regular federal highway programs. Congress each two years authorizes the regular federal aid program, a couple of years in advance, to permit the states to make plans.

The bill would authorize $900,000,000 in fiscal 1960 and $925,000,000 in fiscal 1961 for the regular 50-50 program of federal aid to states for road-building.

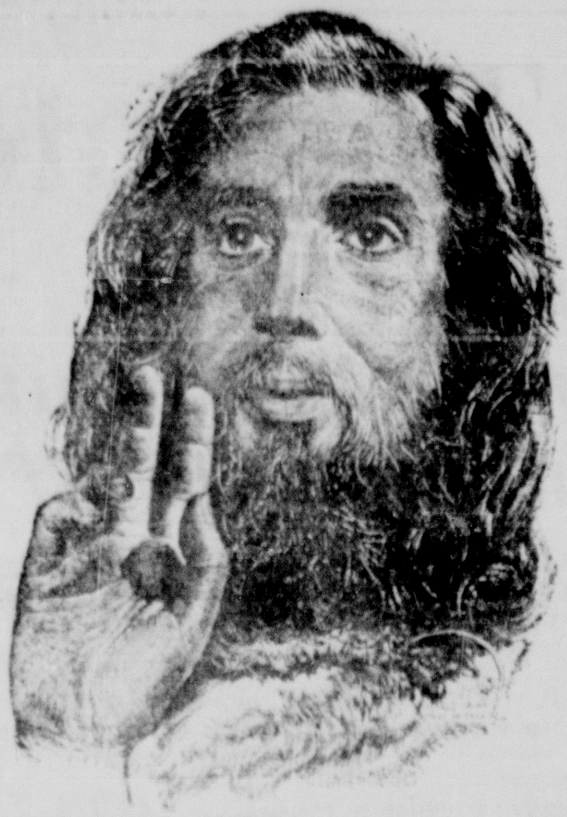

The administration had asked that the figure be held to $900,000,000 each year, but the committee indicated in its vote it would abide by the promise Congress gave in 1955 to boost the regular federal aid program $25,000,000 a year for the next 12 years.

The bill also authorized $104,500,000 a year of federal appropriations for construction of roads and highways in national forests, parks, Indian reservations and other public lands.

An official of the American Association of State Highway Officials reported that two states—Arkansas and Ohio—are out of funds and seven more will be by July 1 for their part in the separate, federal interstate highway program.

John The Baptist Draws Great Multitude While Announcing Coming Of The Messiah

John The Baptist

"There was a man sent from God, whose name was John." —John 1:6

By Patrick and Garrison
TALL, SOLITARY, homeless —wrapped in a camel's skin, his hair depending upon his shoulders, his eyes burning with the zeal of evangelism — such was John the Baptist.

Born when both his parents were of advanced age, he went into the wilderness when still very young, to meditate and to purify himself after the manner of the yoganis of India.

Like anchorites of all ages, he ate simple food (locusts and wild honey), eschewed alcohol and women, and allowed his beard to grow to prophetic length.

Being of the priestly race by both parents, and owing to his dynamic personality and message, he attracted a great multitude "from every quarter" when he appeared in Bethabara, in the vicinity of the Jordan, urging repentance, and announcing the coming of the Messiah.

"He it is, who coming after me is preferred before me, whose shoe's latchet I am not worthy to unloose."

Jesus, then nearing His 30th year, journeyed from Galilee to the Jordan, where the "wild man," the Baptizer, immersed the penitent in the waters of the river for a symbolical cleansing, even as he told them of the coming Messiah, who would baptize with fire.

When John saw Jesus approaching, he said: "Behold the Lamb of God, which taketh away the sin of the world."

Jesus, about to embark upon the three brilliant last years of His earthly life, marked the Change with baptism in the Jordan.

John the Baptist, understood this. He knew that his prophecy was about to be fulfilled.

A crowd gathered upon the banks as Jesus entered the river, to witness His baptism. It was the last day of harvest, and their spirits were high. To their superficial view, the baptism of Jesus was like that of other "sinners" who had come to have their spiritual stains washed away. But such was not the case with John.

"And straightway coming up out of the water, he saw the heavens opened, and the Spirit, like a dove descending upon him. And there came a voice from heaven, saying, Thou art my beloved son, in whom I am well pleased."

The mission of John the Baptist was fulfilled. The final mission of Jesus had begun. (Tomorrow Peter)

Auditor General Approves $8,437 To General Hospital

Labor Leaders Ordered To Stand Trial

SCRANTON, Feb. 27 (AP)—

Three Scranton labor leaders were ordered today to stand trial on charges of accepting illegal payments from a contracting firm during construction of the 33-million-dollar army signal corps depot at Tobyhanna.

U. S. District Judge John W. Murphy rejected motions by John A. Durkin, Joseph J. McHugh and Robert K. Malloy to dismiss indictments against them.

Business Agents

All three are business agents of Local 229, General Drivers and Helpers Union.

They now are serving jail terms for conspiring to damage a non-union built home.

Durkin also is regional vice president of the Pennsylvania Federation of Labor.

Serious Threat To Family

NEW YORK, Feb. 27 (AP)—

It called on its 144,000-member Protestant churches to "share a pastoral concern for alcoholics, problem drinkers and their families."

Airplane Hostesses

LONDON, Feb. 27 (AP)—

The British Overseas Airways Corp. is installing three dozen Indian and Pakistan girls as hostesses on flights between Beirut and Singapore. Their uniforms: A specially designed sari in rich dark blue with gold edging.

The approval has been forwarded to the Department of Welfare for certification.

The money represents 75 per cent of the quarterly payment due the local institution under terms of a state aid appropriation approved for such facilities by the 1957 Legislature.

Present Plan

Under the present plan, 75 per cent of the quarterly appropriation is paid upon receipt of the institution's quarterly report—without awaiting completion of the usual time consuming audit.

The balance due the local institution will be forwarded when the audit has been completed. Records of the Auditor General show the entire quarterly payment for the hospital is $11,250.

The payment represents partial reimbursement for free patient care provided by the hospital during the quarter to those patients unable to pay their own bills.

John Burger has been doing some remodeling to the interior of his home.

Prof. and Mrs. Franklyn Jones of Upper Darby called on Mr. and Mrs. Emory Getz on Saturday afternoon.

Callers at the home of Mrs. Helen Hanna on Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Dotter, Mrs. Florence Hayes and Mrs. Grace Bush.

HERE'S YOUR HAT, WHAT'S YOUR HURRY! . . . out goes the "Old Man", Charlie Marsh, Manager of the J. C. Penney Store is shown being evicted from the premises by Maude Shieff and Mary Smith, new store manager and assistant manager for LADIES' DAYS, TODAY AND TOMORROW. Charlie's parting words were, "Leave it to the Ladies' at Penney's, they're practically going to give my store away on Friday and Saturday" . . . the ladies figured this is no place for the manager to be when we're cutting the prices, so he must GO! . . . So hurry in and take advantage of LADIES' DAY SPECIALS all through the store before the manager gets back on Monday. P. S. That's Evelyn Strunk and Dorcas Williams giving their new bosses a helping hand.—Adv.

from the fellows in the hard hats

Last week's storm left much of Central Eastern Pennsylvania snowbound . . . and many of us, too.

Happily, a snow storm, unlike a sleet storm or hurricane, doesn't rip and tear electric lines . . . and so storm interruptions were not too great. In the Wyomissing area, a group of 80 customers was out for nearly three hours and another group of 70 customers in the States Hills area was out for five hours. Northwest of Allentown, a defective lightning arrester took 35 customers out for 22½ hours . . . and southwest of Allentown, line trouble took 30 customers out of service for 5 hours. The longest outage was on a line to 6 customers deep in the upper hills of the Poconos where drifts held up our crews for 52 hours. The other service calls were largely for the normal single-customer outages that can occur any day of the year. All in all, this is a good report for 700,000 customers spread through 10,000 square miles of swirling blizzard.

Getting to our customers, with snowfall of as much as 29 inches and roads heavily drifted, was the problem.

In one place, our crews took off over fields for several miles because the vehicle they were using, a bulldozer, was not practical over roads. One lineman rode a horse. Two others borrowed mules. Many simply picked up their tool kits and trudged through the drifts and biting winds. Two linemen in the Lancaster area walked seven miles to fix a transformer fuse and walked back 2½ miles to a place to sleep. The next morning they found that the fuse had blown again. They then made the whole bone-chilling trip again . . . a total of nearly 20 miles of old-fashioned hiking.

In some places, crews were isolated, cut off from headquarters for 24 hours and more. When they ran out of service problems, they busied themselves with just plain helping people . . . nudging cars out of drifts, opening paths for fuel and food deliveries in critical situations . . . being good Samaritans.

People also were good Samaritans to us. All over the service area crews met warm welcome . . . hot coffee, sandwiches, meals, and where we were temporarily marooned, people opened their homes and even a church to provide a place for weary crewmen to sleep overnight.

For these and many other favors, we thank you, our customers, sincerely. It's a real pleasure to serve you!

Total Employment Drops 4.4 Percent In Two-County Area

Forecasts Indicate Mixed Trends

TOTAL employment in the Pocono Labor Market Area, including Monroe and Pike counties, dropped 4.4 per cent between Nov. 15 of last year and Jan. 15 of 1958, it was reported yesterday.

John P. Dougherty, manager of the local office of the Pennsylvania State Employment Service, said three-fourths of the decline was in the manufacturing industries, with lay-offs in apparel, textile and light metal manufacturing industries contributing heavily to the decrease.

Dougherty said that, in addition to the usual seasonal lay-offs in resorts and construction work, factory layoffs swelled the unemployment total.

Registration Total
Persons registered for work with the local employment office on Jan. 31 totaled 1,507, of whom 577 were women. On the same date in 1957, 1,085 were registered of whom 377 were women.

Dougherty said unemployment forecasts from 58 major area firms indicated mixed trends will develop during the two months ending March 15 with further declines in factory employment being offset by gains in non-manufacturing industries for a possible very slight net gain.

Mid-January figures showed 173 persons filing initial claims for unemployment insurance with 1,207 continued claims. That compared with 169 initial and 382 continued in mid-November last year and 224 initial and 996 continued in mid-January of 1957.

No Apparent Danger From Rain

MONROE County Civil Defense headquarters last night said there was no apparent danger of flooding in the wake of a storm which dumped sleet and rain on the Pocono Mountains area starting Wednesday night and continuing through yesterday.

Marshall Reese, CD Council president, said he feels the storm has lost its intensity. "The weather will continue nasty," Reese said, "but there will be no considerable amount of rain."

Reese said the Eastern Area CD Headquarters at Quakertown will remain on a 24-hour alert to follow the courses of two storms heading toward Pennsylvania — one from the south, the other from the west.

Reese said he consulted both the eastern area headquarters and the U. S. Weather Bureau before deciding to call off the alert for his units.

Joseph C. Ciampi, county superintendent for the State Highways Department, reported trucks and men were at work on highways in the Mount Pocono area Tuesday night and part of yesterday, but they were recalled last night. Freezing rain and sleet made area roads slippery early yesterday.

Ciampi said he had received a long-range forecast calling for additional rain last night and today, but said it was not freezing on the highways.

In Wayne County, sleet began to fall just before midnight Tuesday and changed to snow in many sectors. Three to five inches were reported in some places, on top of the fall on Feb. 15 and 16.

Gasoline Dealers Declare War On Area Price Wars

A GROUP of local gasoline dealers declared war on price wars last night.

At a meeting of the Monroe County Gasoline Dealers Assn., they voted to set up a local code of ethics for their business. The group will also adopt by-laws which will govern members' actions, according to Ivan Michaels, secretary.

Those attending the meeting expressed alarm at recent evidence of a price war between stations in this area.

Michaels and other officers of the association declared that "no one wins a price war—the company loses by trying to sell at an uneconomic level, the dealer loses because his operating margin diminishes and his income decreases, the customer loses because he gets less service to his car and the station owner often hires less qualified personnel."

Similar Decreases
"Even the persons who start such 'wars' lose, because all price drops are met with similar decreases and only a lower balance of identical prices is accomplished," Michaels said.

Officers elected last night were: Daulton W. Serfass, president; Bernard Clemens, vice president; Michaels, secretary and John Riegel, treasurer.

The association has appointed committees to contact all dealers in the county. They will make an effort to explain the aims of the organization and urge all dealers to join.

Next meeting of the group will be held on March 13 at the George N. Kemp Post, American Legion, East Stroudsburg, where last night's meeting was also held.

THE PUBLIC Utility Commission in Harrisburg has granted fare increases to seven bus companies — including two with terminals in Monroe County — on trips within the state.

Five percent boosts in rates will become effective March 15 for Greyhound Corp., Frank Martz Coach Co. and five other lines.

The state approval coincides with permission recently granted by the Interstate Commerce Commission to the bus lines to boost their rates on trips crossing state lines.

Advance Of $43,500 Set For Bangor

BANGOR — An advance of $43,500 to the Borough of Bangor to prepare final plans for construction of a sanitary sewage system and treatment plant was approved yesterday by Commissioner John C. Hazelline of the Community Facilities Administration, Washington, D. C.

The new facilities will abate pollution of Martins Creek, a Delaware River tributary, and will cost an estimated $1,466,200.

Gravity Drain

Because Bangor is located on hills, the system will drain by gravity to the treatment plant to be built along the creek.

Present plans call for start of construction by August, 1960. The project is being assisted under the program of advances for public works planning authorized by the Housing Act of 1954, as amended.

This program calls for interest free advances for planning essential public works and community facilities.

Survivors

Surviving are four sons, Herbert, at home; Claude, Bangor; Melvin, Portland, and Wilmer, Allentown; one daughter, Mrs. Myrtle Oslin, Stone Church; a brother, Herbert Schoch, Bangor; 12 grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held here at 2 p. m. Monday, Rev. William E. Dennis will officiate and burial will be in St. John's Cemetery.

James Rieger On Dean's List

JAMES RIEGER of 117 Elizabeth St., has been named to the dean's list at King's College, Wilkes-Barre, for the Fall semester.

Rieger, a freshman accounting major, attained a maximum grade rating for the semester, according to Rev. Richard Gorman, CSC, dean of the college.

Miss Zimbar To Attend Conference

MONROE County Heart Committee is sending Miss Genevieve Zimbar, associate professor of Health and physical education at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College to the Pennsylvania College Health Conference.

The meeting is being held now at Temple University at Broad and Berks Sts., Philadelphia. Miss Zimbar's attendance at the conference is part of the year-round education program carried out by the local Heart Committee.

Dr. Charles H. Rushmore, committee president, said last night that the health conference is sponsored, in part, by the Pennsylvania Heart Assn. Other sponsors include various health and welfare organizations in the Commonwealth.

Graduate Work

Miss Zimbar received her education at New York State Teachers College in Albany, from which she received a Bachelor of Science degree. She received her Masters from New York University.

She has done graduate work in her field at Cornell University Summer School of Physical Education; Chalfi Normal School of Dancing, New York City; Harvard University Summer School of Physical Education; University of Pennsylvania and Columbia University Teachers College.

In her present position at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College she teaches physiology, physical activities for typical children and the organization and administration of physical education. She is a former coach of the women's intercollegiate basketball team, tennis and field hockey.

County Resident Applies For Sentence Commutation

A. LEWIS WILLIAMS, 33, East Stroudsburg RD 3, has applied for commutation of a burglary sentence he is now serving at Eastern Penitentiary.

Harrisburg officials said yesterday that the Pennsylvania State Board of Pardons will consider Williams' request at its March 13-14 meeting.

Williams is serving a one and one-half to four years term on a burglary charge. He was sentenced last May by President Judge Fred W. Davis in Monroe County Court.

Foodstuffs

He was arrested by State Police from Stroudsburg on March 15, 1957. He and two Stroudsburg men were charged with theft of foodstuffs from Pinebrook Camp in Stroud Township. They also were charged with burglarizing homes and camps in Paradise as well as Stroud Township.

Williams, who was a first offender, pleaded guilty to five counts of burglary during the May, 1957 term of court. The other two defendants in the case were Bruce D. Hoover and Edward H. Barton Jr.

Brings Divorce

LONDON, Feb. 27 (AP) — Mrs. Ronald Burgess was granted a divorce today after testifying her husband said nothing to her for a whole month except "thank you" for his breakfast, "good-by" when he left for work and "hello" when he came home. "That sort of conduct can be even more devastating than violence," commented Commissioner John Flowers. He granted the divorce on grounds of cruelty and desertion.

Woolworth Concern Pays $3.44 Per Share

F. W. WOOLWORTH CO., earnings slipped to $3.44 a share in 1957, from $3.57 in 1956, despite record sales, according to the Wall Street Journal.

James T. Leftwich, president, said the results "emphasize the necessity of increasing sales to offset the increase in operating expenses."

PREMIUM SALES of Allstate Insurance Co. rose to a record $313,168,000 during 1957, a gain of 11 percent over the year before, President Judson B. Branch reported.

Profit on Allstate's investments, general liability, fire, theft and home-owners insurance operations totaled $10,235,000 after taxes, up 26 percent from 1956.

The company experienced an underwriting loss of slightly more than two million dollars, due to heavy claim costs, Branch said. Allstate is a wholly owned subsidiary of Sears, Roebuck & Co.

HOW TO weight tractor tires with liquid to get full power out of tractors is explained in the 1958 edition of the Farmers Handbook and Almanac published by B. F. Goodrich Tire Co. and available without charge from the B. F. Goodrich Store, 735 Main St., Stroudsburg.

The 32-page almanac is designed to be helpful to farmers and their families, according to Leslie H. Traub, manager of the Stroudsburg store.

The booklet contains such other informative articles as "Safety on the Farm," "Best Seasons for Planting," "Cloud Facts," "Anti-Freeze Chart for Liquid Weighting" and "Why B. F. Goodrich Builds Hundreds of Different Truck Tires."

FOR THE 15th successive year, Pennsylvania Power and Light Company's anthracite consumption topped two and one-half million tons, according to an announcement yesterday by Charles E. Oakes, PP&L board chairman.

The company's total hard coal consumption during 1957 was 2,797,000 tons.

The majority of this tonnage was burned in boilers of seven of the company's eight operating steam-electric stations. The anthracite used in company power plants alone is equivalent to 380 twenty-ton truck loads a day, or an average of 7,600 tons every 24 hours.

BUSY MAN these days is William S. Wyckoff, President of Edinger-Wyckoff, Inc. of this city, and treasurer of the National Association of Store Fixture Manufacturers, who, despite the regular pressure of business, is getting things lined up for attendance at the Suppliers' Trade Exposition. The Exposition is in conjunction with his association's third annual convention at the Conrad Hilton Hotel, Chicago, March 27-28.

Regarding the Exposition Wyckoff says: "Several factors contributing to the steady growth of our industry — now representing purchases of over $200,000,000 annually — and a vast replacement market with production of fixtures for newly constructed stores, offices and banks. This includes the ever expanding retail establishments in outlying shopping centers across the country — are alerting suppliers to the economic importance of the only trade exposition held especially for them."

"As a result, over 75 percent of the available exhibit space has already been sold, and interest among store fixture manufacturers in the industry is pointing the way to a most successful Exposition."

The convention which spearheads the Suppliers Trade Exposition will feature a program of panel discussions, workshop sessions, round table discussions, inspirational talks and social events for members of the Association and their wives.

SIX RESTAURANTS in the Stroudsburg area have received national recognition in the new 1958 edition of Duncan Hines' "Adventures in Good Eating" just off the press.

They are among 3,000 selected eating places in North America recommended by Duncan

Hines.

The restaurants: The Inn at Buck Hill Falls; Skyline Inn, Mount Pocono; Penn-Stroud Hotel, Stroudsburg; Old Heidelberg, Pocono Gates; and Swiftwater Inn, all in Swiftwater.

According to the publisher, the Duncan Hines Institute, Ithaca, N. Y., this is the 50th printing for this 352 page travel guide book used by millions of Americans for nearly a quarter of a century.

The other new Duncan Hines book just out is the companion edition, "Lodging for a Night," (304 pages), which lists 3,800 selected lodging places.

NEWEST SALESROOM for foreign cars in Monroe County is Barrett Auto Service's Simca agency in Cresco, and is owned and operated by Robert Ziegler of Mountainhome. The grand opening begins today.

The Simca is a French-built car, long known throughout Europe and is being introduced in the United States. Twelve different models are available including the DeLuxe which is the low priced model going at $1,765 delivered. Also available are commercial models for light use such as the delivery car, multi-purpose pick-up and a platform pick-up with roll-back tarpaulin.

Luxury models include Oceane convertible and the Plein Ciel Coupe both of which have all the glamour and luxury of much more expensive sports cars.

Simca dealer Robert Ziegler is well known throughout the area and also operates the Barrett Auto Service.

The new salesroom however, is located in the Cresco Post Office Building in Cresco. The Grand Opening will continue through tomorrow.

A NEW PAINT CENTER opens next week in East Stroudsburg.

Located at 136 N. Courtland St., it will be operated by Carl and Merritt Hamill.

Carl Hamill has been a painter, decorator and painting contractor for more than 30 years in this area. Both men are residents of East Stroudsburg.

Featured at the store will be Fine Quality Paints by Felton, Sibley Products for whom the local representative is Martin Vogt.

The store will hold its grand opening on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, March 6, 7 and 8. There will be free gifts, door prizes and demonstrations.

NEW YORK, Feb. 27 (AP)—Rosen Corp. today cut its quarterly dividend on common stock from 25 to 15 cents a share, payable March 22 to holders of record March 15.

Louis V. Aronson II, president, said the dividend slash was dictated by the need to conserve working capital for growth and new product development.

Advertising Club To Hear Report

News of the World in Pictures

MECCA FOR MIGRANTS—Whether it's for swimming or sunning, Florida resorts are popular with visitors from all over the nation. This beach is typical of the many which are strung out along the eastern coastline of the Sunshine state.

SPACE PLANNER

ROY W. JOHNSON, newly appointed boss for America's outer space projects, lives with his wife and daughter in a Cape Cod cottage in Stamford, Conn. The new head of the Defense department's Advanced Research Projects agency is a keen amateur artist, spending many hours with paint and brush. Johnson doesn't smoke. He leans toward the Ivy League in fashions and drinks Scotch "like everyone else in Connecticut." He wanted to be an architect when he was growing up. Now, he will be an architect in space. Here are some "at home" pictures of Johnson, his wife, Ellen, and their 11-year-old daughter, Kristine.

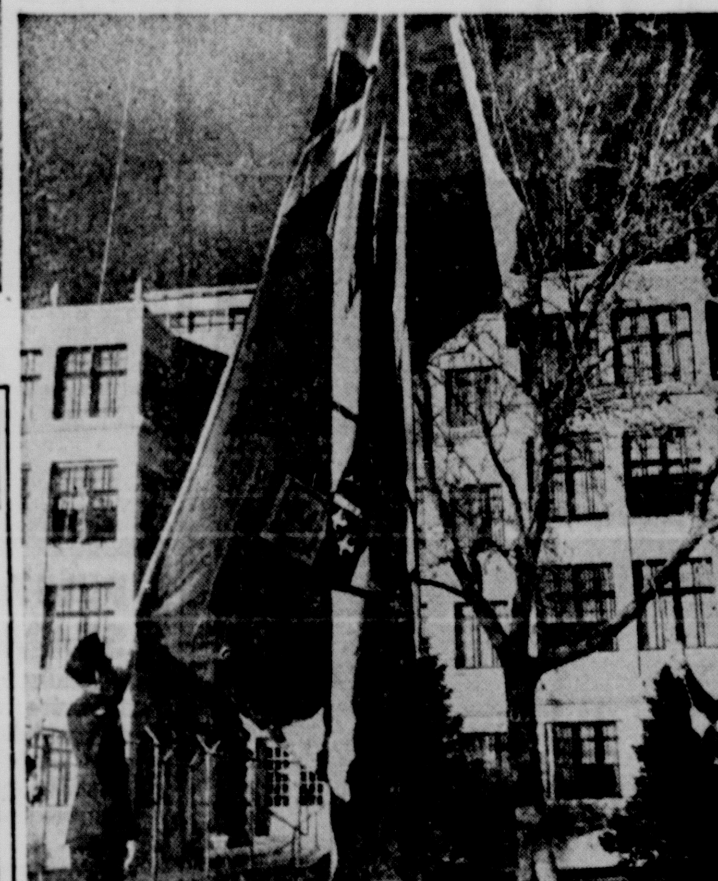

He uses a quartz crystal from Kristine's rock collection for rocket demonstration.

The family surrounds the painting which Johnson is working on at the moment.

FAVORS THE FLUTE—Actor Tony Curtis toots the flute between scenes of a Hollywood film in which he plays the trumpet. Actually, a jazz artist will be doing the real playing while Curtis "fakes" it.

CANADA IN COLORADO—The Canadian ensign and the American flag fly side by side at the headquarters of the North American Air Defense command in Colorado Springs, Colo. RCAF Cpl. Lloyd Ledrew is proudly raising his country's ensign.

ROPED BY A FILLY—This young cowboy must be hoping that none of the men folk see him corralled by his girl friend at a ranch near Tucson, Ariz.

King Features Syndicate

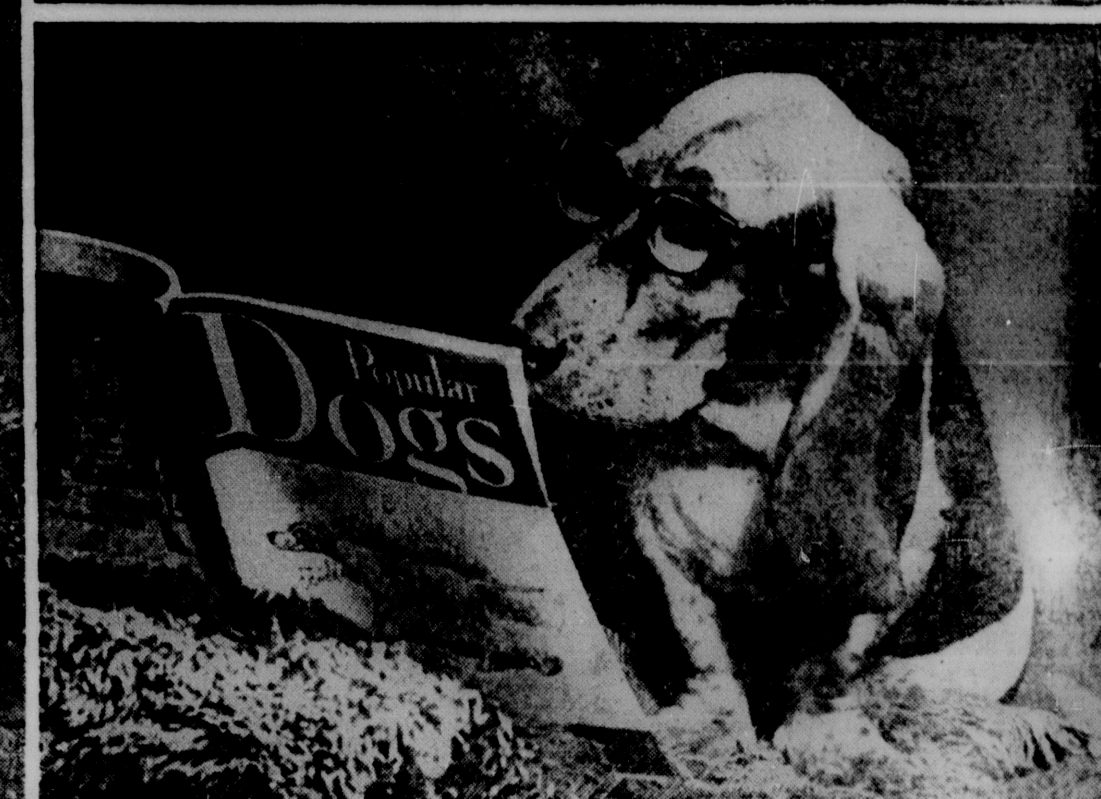

STRANDED IN SINAI—When members of the 56th Reconnaissance squadron rotated to Canada from Egypt, they left their mascots in the Sinai desert with their replacements. Tpr. Al Miner goes out on a short patrol with Gyppo and Farida.

WHERE'S THAT EXEMPTION LINE?—Anyone struggling with his income tax form will probably envy John Masino of Randolph Township, N. H. Masino, part owner of a bar and grill, poses with his latest child, week-old Denise and other members of his family. He has $7,800 in exemptions from 13 children.

A BRIGHT TRIBUTE—At Nela Park, in Cleveland, Corinne Arnold admires a mosaic in lights of George Washington and his cherry tree hatchet. This is patterned after Gilbert Stuart's unfinished portrait.

OUT OF CHARACTER—Ch. Bern's Jorgette of Dogpatch is a basset hound appearing in a current Broadway musical, but she seems a little too intellectual for the part she has as she dons spectacles to enjoy some very light reading material.

Recreation To Be Feature Of Meeting At Stroudsburg Seventh-Day Adventist Church

"WHAT ABOUT recreation?" leader said tonight's Sabbath youth service would be conducted as a panel, and would deal with recreation for Christian young people from the positive angle.

Mrs. Gerard Freeman M.V. The leader said true recreation should "re-create" the image of Christ in the physical, mental and spiritual make-up of man and should be distinguished from "worldly amusement", and that youth should learn to keep vigorous and healthy every God-given faculty.

The panel will be composed of Mrs. T. E. Banks of Mount Zion, who will act as moderator; Mrs. Jim Foote, East Stroudsburg; Mrs. L. D. Warren, East Stroudsburg; Tom Miller, Pocono Lake; and Jerry Freeman, East Stroudsburg. Music for the service will be under the direction of Tom Foulkes Jr.

Tonight's offering will go to the M. V.'s "Community Service Project" entitled "Operation Desire." This is a plan to make available to public business establishments the "Desire of Ages", one of the most widely read volumes on the life of our Lord, according to Mrs. Freeman, who is a graduate of Washington Missionary College.

Laymen's Rally
A conferencewide lay workers' rally for the Seventh-Day Adventist churches of Eastern Pennsylvania will be held in Reading, today and tomorrow, according to Elder William R. Bornstein, pastor of the local Adventist church.

'Little Gaelic Singers' Set For College Concert

POCONO Community Concerts presents its third concert next Wednesday night, March 5, at 8:30 p.m. at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College auditorium.

Featured will be the "Little Gaelic Singers", a group of 19 girls and five boys from Ireland, and conducted by James McCafferty. The young Irish baritone, Neil Carlin, appears with them, as well as one of Ireland's most famous dancers, Breandon DeGlin. This group of youngsters drew rave reviews during their first tour from the New York Herald-Tribune, the Washington Star, the Chicago American, the Chicago Sun-Times, The Detroit Free Press and other metropolitan daily newspapers.

They appeared twice on the Ed Sullivan show during their first tour and have again recently appeared with Sullivan while on their present tour. The Little Gaelic Singers have been recognized as one of the finest musical ensembles ever to come out of Ireland.

Denominations On Board

NEW YORK, Feb. 27 (AP)—Representatives of four additional denominations were received today into the governing board of the National Council of Churches, increasing its constituency to 34 denominations with 38 million members.

The newly affiliated churches are the Armenian Church of North America, the Serbian Eastern Church, the Hungarian Reform Church and the Polish Catholic Church. They have a total of more than 400,000 members.

Name Omitted

THE NAME of the widow, Mrs. Emma Learn Setzer, was inadvertently omitted from the list of survivors in the story on the death of Stewart A. Setzer, 84, of 79 N. Second St., Stroudsburg. Funeral services for Mr. Setzer were held Tuesday.

Dunmore Man Killed

ROCHESTER, Mass., Feb. 27 (AP)—A Dunmore, Pa., Air Force sergeant was killed today when his car skidded on a patch of ice and crashed into a tree. The victim was identified as M-Sgt. Michael Patrisian, stationed at Otis Air Force Base, Falmouth.

Just Between Us—

—By Bobby Westbrook

Trying to look on the bright side of a day like yesterday was a little difficult even for the most determined Pollyanna. And I'd had a bad start. The cat, who'd come through his enforced solitude sleek and fat, came in from his first night of freedom bruised and battered.

Seems that while he was storm bound, a stray cat had taken over his territory, and from the looks of our cat, they'd fought it out all night.

The hike down to the end of the lane and the car—which seems to get longer with every passing day that the snow lingers on the driveway—was wet and disconcerting with ice falling on your head from trees and wires.

The car itself was sheathed in ice that needed a pick-ax to get through. The indoor activities of the day were cozy and pleasant, but you lost most of the glow just getting from one place to another.

However, we'll find the bright side if it kills us. Eureka! Even if there is nothing else good about today, there is one thing—it's the last day of February.

I'd hate to do without Washington, Lincoln or Valentine's Day, but otherwise I could get along very well without February at all. Especially rain. Winter weather worn threadbare by the months of it we've already had.

February is a short month. Only 28 days this year, but doesn't it seem like a lot more? And even 28 days are too many.

Of course, March weather isn't much better. In fact, I think more people get irritated at March weather than at February weather, because the calendar says that Spring comes in March and it hardly ever does.

However, there's something good to be said for March, too. At least it isn't February.

The Baby's Named!

THE DAILY RECORD congratulates the parents and introduces to its readers the following new babies:

Charles Wallace Metzgar, Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wallace Metzgar of Cresco, RD 1, announce the birth of a son, Charles Wallace Metzgar, Jr., on February 21 at the General Hospital. He weighed eight pounds, eight and a half ounces. They have a daughter, Cathy Ann, who is seven years and seven months old.

Mark Alan Landi

Their third son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Richard E. Landi of Cresco at the General Hospital on February 19. He weighed seven pounds, seven ounces and has been named Mark Alan. The older boys are Neil, 25 months and Ricky, 14 months.

Glenna Starnier

Glenna Starnier, daughter of Floyd E. Starnier, 129 Lee Ave., Stroudsburg, Pa. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Michael Landi of Cresco.

Steven Charles Jones

Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Jones, Nazareth RD 3, announce the birth of a son on February 21 at the General Hospital. He weighed eight pounds, 4 1/2 ounces and has been named Steven Charles. He has an older brother, David Lewis Jones, 29 months old.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Glenwood T. Lewis and Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Jones, both of Bangor.

David Joseph Kuschner

Mr. and Mrs. Donald J. Kuschner of 864 Thomas St., Stroudsburg, announce the birth of their first son on February 25 at the General Hospital. He weighed six pounds, ten ounces and has been named David Joseph.

Be Sure You Know Field Before Deciding On Job

By Anne Heywood

As Gilbert and Sullivan said, "Things are seldom what they seem."

Nowhere is that more true than in the vocational field. What you picture when you hear of a certain job, and what it turns out to be, are two very different things, most of the time.

For example, a reader writes: "I love working with people, so I want to get a job in the personnel department of a big company."

Lots of Detail

Some of the jobs in personnel do involve dealing with people, but the overwhelming number of them do not. For each interviewer, there are several clerks who handle the application cards, file the correspondence, review the histories for raises, schedule the vacation periods, handle the figures for payrolls and hospitalization. They do any number of jobs with pieces of paper instead of people.

Another deceptive field is the fund-raising field, one of the ten biggest fields which employ paid workers.

Likes Social Work

"Please give me some advice," a girl in Ohio writes. "My inclination is toward the social service field, but please don't recommend the fund-raising angle. I am not very good at asking people for money."

Actually, hardly any of the paid jobs in the fund-raising involve asking people for money. It's mostly the volunteer workers who do that. The paid workers are behind the scenes, organizing the volunteers, disseminating the information, preparing the cast histories for the appeals, writing slogans and teaching volunteers how to raise money.

Of course, the biggest misconception of all concerns the travel field. I groan when I hear dewy-eyed beginners say: "I love to travel, so I want a job in a travel agency."

Big Discounts

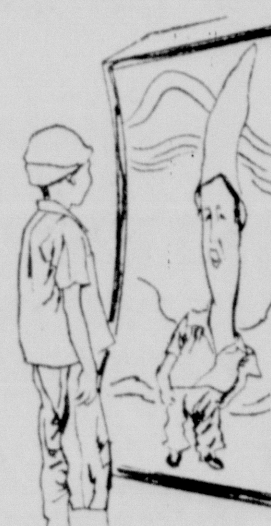

Well, after you've been there for a long time, you may get big discounts off on your vacation travel, but vacations come but once a year and are only for two weeks. All the rest of the year you sit there figuring routes and prices for the lucky people who do the actual traveling—namely, the customers.

As Samuel Hoffenstein once wrote: "How far the mighty railroads roam. Yet every inch of rail stays home." You may route thousands of air, rail and sea miles, but you stay right in your little cubicle on Main Street!

Jobs—Like Things!—Are Seldom What They Seem

The moral is, find out about a field by researching it in advance instead of getting into it and becoming disillusioned the hard way!

League To Study Water Conservation

Mr. G. Dushinberre, state chairman of water conservation for the Pennsylvania League of Women Voters, will speak to members of the local provisional league at the meeting on March 19, at 8 p. m. Announcement of the talk was made by Mrs. Henry Smith, local water conservation chairman, at the meeting held on Wednesday night at the home of Mrs. Fred W. Davis.

The meeting on Wednesday night combined the unit study meeting with the regular meeting and gave a brief history of the League and its policy on non-partisanship for the guests and new members.

During the business meeting, plans were also announced for the voters service for the May primaries and for the finance drive.

Mrs. Charles McMahon led the discussion on the continuing study of revision of the state constitution with emphasis on methods of constitution revision.

Mrs. Walter Olenick gave the first report of the group which is making a Know Your Town survey in East Stroudsburg.

Hymns Written By Women Program Topic

Many of the songs in the Presbyterian hymnal will have added significance for the members of the Women's Assn. who heard Mrs. Numa Snyder at the meeting on Tuesday night at the Stroudsburg church.

Many of the favorite hymns selected by the audience had been written by women, and Mrs. Snyder gave something of the lives of the women who wrote the lyrics and of the stories behind the individual hymns. The hymns were sung, either by the entire group or by Mrs. Snyder as solo.

Mrs. Claude Leister presided at the business meeting when it was announced that the Stroudsburg association would be host to the county meeting in May. The Dorcas circle served refreshments after the program.

Now Is Time To Land That Summer Job

By Vivian Brown
AP Newsfeature Writer

Now is the time for all energetic moderns to sew up a summer job. Don't be wishy-washy about it. Get busy and look just as diligently for a job now as you would when school is out, as if you were desperate for work. It's the early birds that win up the cushy assignments, the late lookers who join the crocodile club when all the jobs are gone.

Here's a list of noggins' producers. Maybe you'll get an idea for a job in your area.

Junior Counselors . . . Day camps sometimes prefer a semester of college and 6 months group work with children. There are openings for beginners, however. Summer resident camps, like additional skills such as arts, crafts, music, dramatics, dance.

Mother's Helper . . . You'll live as a member of the family (usually at good vacation spots) as nurse and companion to the little youngsters, helping with the work—child care, cooking, cleaning, maybe even laundry. There is usually time for fun though—swimming, hiking.

Farm Jobs . . . City kids love farm jobs and an advertisement in a farm journal can get you away from it all. Ask the family for references, and check them before you take the job. Church references are the best in cases of that sort. It may even be a good idea to ask your own pastor to contact the church reference.

Sales Jobs . . . Put your ear in now for those jobs. Try specialties shops, five-and-ten cent stores, drug stores, ice-cream stands, gift shops are other good bets.

Hospital Jobs . . . Many hospitals like to feel they can depend on relief help when vacation periods start for their staff. Get your application in now, telling how long and how often you can be on the job.

Waitress . . . Try the neighborhood restaurants, refreshment stands nearby and resorts or national parks for these jobs.

Office Jobs . . . If you can run a switchboard or can type, take shorthand or keep books you may find summer jobs if you line them up now. There are other jobs: Sorting, delivering mail, answering the telephone, filling and clerical jobs that do not require experience.

Park and Beach Attendants . . . Many beaches and clubs keep a list of young girls who can help mother at the beach watching small fry. There are jobs too for boys as lifeguards, cabana hands and at refreshment stands in park or beach.

Shrimp Wiggle Is Good Dish For Busy Wives

By Cecile Brownstone
Associated Press Food Editor

Every once in awhile someone asks us for a recipe for shrimp wiggle. When we told a friend we didn't know how the dish got its name or where and when it originated, she hazarded a guess that it originally arrived with the chafing dish. She said her own acquaintance with shrimp wiggle went back to the 20's when she and her friends prepared it over canned shrimp with canned peas. Naturally they served it with crackers.

Sure enough, in Fannie Farmer's "Chafing Dish Possibilities," published in 1898, we find a recipe for shrimp wiggle composed of a thin white sauce and equal parts of cooked shrimp and green peas; salt and pepper are the only seasonings the austere Miss Farmer added. When that other old-time standard work, "The Settlement Cook Book" got around to listing the dish, paprika was included. Later recipes, we notice, sometimes include onion.

Here's our own latest version of shrimp wiggle—with a goodly amount of Worcestershire sauce and some Tabasco Sauce, as well as a canned pimiento, to give it extra zest. This recipe is a fine one for career girls and busy mothers because it

Rohrbacker Wedding In California

Newfoundland — A gown of pale pink lace was chosen by Miss Nancy J. Rohrbacker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Rohrbacker, for her wedding in St. Louis Bertrand Church, Oakland, California, on February 15.

Miss Rohrbacker became the bride of John Maxwell, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Maxwell, of Oakland, with the Rev. J. C. McEntee performing the ceremony at an altar decorated with white snapdragons.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her uncle, John Dreyer, wore a gown of pale pink lace featuring scalloped neckline, short sleeves and a ballerina-length bouffant skirt of crystalite. Her pink, shoulder-length veil of illusion fell from a white seed pearl wreath. She wore pink lace gloves and carried a prayer book topped with white lace and marked with three miniature white and pink orchids.

Mrs. Shirley Maxwell, of San Francisco, was matron of honor, choosing a ballerina-length gown of blue crystalite styled like that of the bride. Her dark pink carnations were arranged in a colonial bouquet and she wore similar flowers in her hair.

Junior bridesmaids were Miss Candace Silva. She wore a dress of white nylon floral print with which she wore a floral headpiece. Her colonial bouquet was of pale pink carnations.

Thomas Maxwell, San Francisco, was best man. Ushers were Anthony Silva, of San Lorenzo, Calif., and Robert Ragghianti, Oakland.

A reception for fifty guests followed the ceremony, after which the couple left for San Francisco. They will make their home in Oakland.

The bride is a graduate of Greene-Dreher-Sterling Joint High School, Newfoundland, and Scranton Lackawanna College.

The bridegroom, a graduate of McGill Institute, Mobile, Alabama, served for four years with the United States Navy. He is attending Oakland Junior College.

Membership In Hamilton PTA Gains

Hamilton Township—Founders' Day was observed when the Hamilton Township Parent-Teachers Association met at the Hamilton Elementary School, Sciota, on Monday night, February 24. A special program, featuring a skit, fashion show and group singing, was presented by members of the Polk Township PTA. Mrs. A. Martin served as reader, Mrs. Rosa Shupp was narrator for the fashion show and Edmund Kosloski was accompanist.

John Edinger presided at the business session. A financial report was presented by Mrs. William Fetherman.

Mrs. Walter Young, co-chairman of the membership committee, reported that 249 members have been enrolled. That is a 13 per cent increase over the membership of parents in the first six grades of the school in the previous year.

A discussion was held concerning the serving of refreshments and the placing of appropriate decorations. It was decided that the mode of service and other related matters would be up to the homeroom mothers selected for each month.

Principal Edward Doney announced that flyers pertaining to grade and high school attendance and school laws would be sent home with school children in the near future.

March 17 was set as the next meeting for the executive board. The regular PTA meeting will be held on the following Monday night, March 24, at 8.

Refreshments of homemade doughnuts and beverages were served by homeroom mothers of first grade. Decorations were in the patriotic motif.

Named to the nominating committee were Mrs. Guy Dean, Miss Louise Dunkelberger, Mrs. Joseph Small, Mrs. Justin Feltham, and Mrs. William Hoffman.

The board also voted to send $10, contributed by members, as a Founder's Day gift to the PTA.

Worn Playing Cards May Still Be Useful In House

By Eleanor Ross

Like so many of our friends, we are ashamed to use old playing cards, but too thrifty to throw them away. We thought about it and decided there must be some way to retire still good, if not new looking, cards to a useful existence. We looked around and came up with these suggestions that we hope may work out for you.

Excellent Idea

One excellent idea is to use old cards to give wastebaskets a new lease on life.

If the basket looks seedy, scratched or chipped, just decorate it with used playing cards and give it a good shellacking. With a little imagination, you can produce a smart-looking basket.

For The Commuter

If Dad is a commuter he may enjoy an occasional game with the "boys" on the train. So keep at least one deck of playing cards in his briefcase.

If he's a sportsman at heart, make sure he has a pack of cards in his fishing tackle box. Then he can amuse himself with a quiet game of solitaire when the fish aren't biting.

For the inevitable time when one of the children comes down with the measles, keep a box of buttons or beads to be strung, a pack or two of old cards and magazines with bright pictures on the bedside table. If the disease is contagious, these things can all be thrown out or burned when the time is up. If not, put them away till the need arises again.

Save lemon halves after the juice has been squeezed out, notch the edges and use as pretty containers for tartar sauce to go with fish

THE MAIL ARRIVES . . . bringing a friendly message from Mrs. Al Gerlinger of Swiftwater, who writes:

"I was very much interested in today's Wyckoff Shopper article concerning birds and their food. I have a bird feeder on both sides of our lawn, and on these mornings with snow over your head and wondering how to get to the feeders, a thought struck me which has proven satisfactory, and if stated in your column or over WVPO would, I think, help the birds considerably.

"Take a piece of suet . . . drill a hole in one end with an ice pick, pull cord through, tie it in the hook that holds the storm window shut, and let it hang outside the window. You will know the birds have found the suet as you will wonder who is knocking outside your window. This is only a suggestion, but it has worked wonders for me."

This ingenious idea just goes to show that almost every problem has a solution, if we determine to find it . . . I am grateful to Mrs. Gerlinger not just for writing, but for being a Wyckoff Shopper reader and listener.

Another letter arrives from Al DeRenzis, publicity chairman of the financial campaign staged locally by our Monroe County Heart Committee. Al thanks me for my "cooperation and initiative" during the drive. In behalf of Wyckoff's, I can only say it was a pleasure to cooperate. Whenever there's a project afoot for human good or civic betterment, no one could be more interested than A. B. Wyckoff. Though the years we have made use of this column and the Wyckoff radio program to serve the public in many ways—and not just through the sale of merchandise selected with local budgets in mind . . . I am indebted to Leonard Randolph of the Daily Record and Joe Whalen of WVPO for two of the most interesting Shopper broadcasts presented recently. Randy very kindly came in from the country earlier than usual to talk with us about Dr. Robert Glover's remarkable work in cardiac research, and Joe discussed the Broadway production, "Sunrise at Campobello" which he saw with Ed Somers after a recent Yankee baseball meeting. "Sunrise" covers a period of several years in the life of the late Franklin D. Roosevelt when he suffered—and conquered—polio. It is the story not of a politician, but of a man who found unplumbed resources within himself to lift him above his afflictions. Joe talks beautifully and is so intelligently perceptive, that no one would have guessed he stepped into the studio at the last minute with no time at all for preparation. (Aside to the world: gee but it's grand to have friends!) . . . If you need bedspreads, Hattie Walters has a number of beauties marked down for clearance. If you need new slip covers for a studio couch, see the lovely ones—custom made in our slip cover

OFF THE RECORD

By Bob Clark
Sports Editor

REGARDLESS OF THE outcome of tonight's game with Stroudsburg, East Stroudsburg High's varsity court representatives have done themselves proud with a remarkable second half season.

Around the middle of January the proteges of Doug Schoonover were floundering with a one-win and 10-loss record, but today Eastburg was boasting a 6-win and 13-loss mark, with two recent setbacks overtime thrillers.

Schoonover has done a tremendous job when you consider the problems he was faced with. For example, right when the season started three of his regulars quit the team. As it was the Eastburg mentor wasn't exactly blessed with experience.

But with these obstacles facing him, Schoonover went along slowly, getting into shape his first five. Three of the boys hardly had any basketball experience at all and the two leftovers—Jim Kindrew and Dale Metzgar—had to carry the entire burden the first half of the season.

However, when newcomers Bill Hillman, Alex Sydelnik and Johnny Hindman finally got their feet on the ground the Cavaliers were ready to make their move.

And move they did. With any amount of luck Eastburg would be waving the second half L-N flag today. Take away those two overtime losses and put them on the win side and you have a 7-1 record. No other team in the loop could hit this mark.

This great comeback of the Cavaliers is phenomenal when you note the same team finished in the cellar of the L-N during the first half chase.

Someone had to do a good job to make such a pronounced turn-about face. That someone, naturally, was Schoonover who is only in his second year at the North Courtland St. school.

His transforming Kindrew and Metzgar into one of the most feared one-two punches in the area was an eye-opening job in itself.

However, we feel his molding of Sydelnik, Hindman and Hillman was "the" sculpture which turned the Cavaliers into a winning combination instead of also-rans.

Schoonover bursts all over with a winning attitude. Even when his club was losing you could see and feel confidence erupting from his proteges.

The second half race eventually brought out this characteristic in full bloom. Twice, the Cavaliers down 17 and 23 points fought back to triumph. Once, again 17 down, Eastburg rallied to take a two-point lead with five seconds remaining only to bow in overtime.

A coach's makeup brushes off on his team. Schoonover never thinks a game is lost until it is over. Even then he wonders what went wrong to bring about the defeat.

East Stroudsburg High didn't win any pennant in basketball this season but you can bet the year on the court will be remembered for a long time.

We imagine Copley and Parkland will remember distinctly those setbacks at the hands of the Cavaliers on successive nights which pushed the Wildcats and Trojans out of sole possession of first place in the L-N.

If there was a best coaching performance title for the year among schoolboy court tutors, Schoonover would win the honors hands down. No one could overlook the record and pass up "the" comeback of the season.

'Battle Of Boroughs' Slated At Eastburg Today

Stroudsburg, E. Burg Renew Rivalry In 8 P. M. Contest

STROUDSBURG and East Stroudsburg high basketball teams will come together in the latest edition of basketball the "Battle of the Boroughs" today in the Cavaliers gymnasium. Varsity game time is 8 p.m.

Stags Host Hawley In Loop Finale

NEWFOUNDLAND — Greene-Dreher-Sterling High will be out to clinch the Southern Division championship in the Dayne Basketball Conference today when it entertains Hawley here.

The Stags of Henry Arneberg, 6-1 in the loop and a game leader over second place Moscow for the Southern crown, needs only a victory over Hawley to lay claim to their second consecutive title.

Heavy snows in the Mountain area sidelined both the Stags and visitors the past 12 days. Game time is 8:30 p. m.

Bangor FFA Court Victors

BANGOR — Dick Skrzylo's 42 points sparked Bangor Future Farmers of America to a 69-56 triumph over Stroudsburg FFA here Wednesday.

Skrzylo's 20 field goals and two fouls led Bangor to its second win over Stroudsburg in the semi-annual series.

Lends Stroudsburg Fred Tucker was Stroudsburg's top scorer with 25.

Pitt, UCLA To Play LOS ANGELES, Feb. 27 (AP) — UCLA and the University of Pittsburgh have signed a new home-and-home football pact for 1961 and 1962. It was announced today. Athletic Director Wilbur Johns of UCLA said the new agreement means the teams meet for five straight years, starting this year.

Arnold Palmer Takes Golf Lead

BATON ROUGE, Feb. 27 (AP) — Arnold Palmer caught fire on the last four holes today to capture the first round lead in the $15,000 Baton Rouge Open golf tournament by one stroke.

The Latrobe, Pa., professional birdied three of the last four holes for a five-under-par 67.

Peter Thomson, 28, an Australian playing his first United States tournament this year, tied for second with Otto Greiner, Tenafly, N. J. Both were four-under-par with 68s.

Rademacher Denies Match

COLUMBUS, Ga., Feb. 27 (AP) — Mike DeJohn, Syracuse, N. Y., heavyweight, may have agreed to terms to meet Pete Rademacher, but it's all news to Rademacher.

That was the statement of the former heavyweight Olympic champion when informed that DeJohn had accepted an offer by the International Boxing Club to meet Rademacher.

"I don't know anything about it," said Rademacher. "I have just returned from Ft. Jackson, S. C., and this is the first I have heard of such a bout. The IBC may have made an offer to DeJohn, but they haven't talked to me."

Barrett High Five To Host Pocono Twp. In MS Finale

CANADENSIS — The lid closes down on the Monroe Scholastic Basketball League today when Barrett High entertains Pocono Twp. here.

Pocono Twp. clinchers of the league crown Tuesday night, could send Barrett into tie with Chestnut Hill by capturing the finale. A victory, however, by Joe Murray's team, will give Barrett sole possession of second place.

Barrett school aides announced that a trampoline exhibition will be featured during the half-time of the tussle.

A preliminary game between the jayvee quintets will start off the night's action at 7:15 p. m. The varsity contest is scheduled to start at 8:30 p. m.

All-Star Date MSL officials announced that the league's all-star game, highlighting the loop's best against Pocono Twp's championship five will be held March 7-Friday—at East Stroudsburg High's gymnasium.

It was also announced that the MSL league banquet will be held March 13. No site has been named for the annual event.

'Guarded' Champion Brown Flies Away From Havana

HAVANA, Feb. 27 (AP) — Guarded until the last moment, lightweight champion Joe Brown and his wife happily left by plane today for his New Orleans home.

The American, who knocked out Cuba's Orlando Echevarria in the first round of a non-title fight last night, had been surrounded by heavy police forces ever since Cuban rebels kidnapped Juan Manuel Fangio, Argentina's world champion auto racing driver.

It was awkward and disturbing, said Brown. "Naturally, I didn't expect anything like this when I came here and I was a little upset with having police all around me all of the time."

Cause to Think "This caused me to start thinking about my personal safety when my mind should have been on nothing else but my fight with Echevarria. I'm happy it all turned out fine."

Brown, 32, under pressure by the American National Boxing Assn. to defend his crown against Kenny Lane of Muskegon, Mich., said he may risk his title against Ralph Dupas of New Orleans at Houston, Tex., sometime in April. Lane is the leading American contender.

Commercial 'C' League will resume bowling action today at Harmon's Recreation, East Stroudsburg, starting at 9:15 p.m. The schedule:

STC's German Sets Mark, Keeps Pace In Points Race

JOHNSTOWN, Pa.—Donald Botz of Clarion took the total points scoring lead from Roger Hotz of California, by eight points, but Charles German, of East Stroudsburg, is setting the pace in the closing two weeks of play in the Pennsylvania State Teachers' Colleges Basketball Conference.

Last weekend German for the second time this season against the same Cheyney opponent broke the foul-scoring record of 36 fouls scored in one game set during the 1952-53 season by James Kennedy of California.

$72,000 Pact Is Signed By Mick Mantle

Charles' Record

German tallied 17 fouls last Saturday and in the previous game at Cheyney had recorded 19 fouls for a new record in the eight-year-old conference. German scored a total of 35 points in last weekend's game to bring his average to 28.3 points per game, which is two-tenths of a point better than Roger Hotz. The high average record is 29.6 held by James Kennedy, of California.

German has three more conference games to play while Hotz and Botz have one each. Botz needs 29 points at Mansfield tonight (Thursday) to set a new scoring record. Hotz needs 37 points against Slippery Rock on Saturday. German needs to score 89 points in three games to better the 289 mark set by John Parker of Millersville during the 1956-57 season. Pennsylvanians On South 'Five'

RICHMOND, Va., Feb. 27 (AP)—A pair of Pennsylvanians, Lloyd Sharrar of Mendville, and Gene Guarilla, Wilkes-Barre, today were named to the 1958 All-Southern Conference basketball team.

Sharrar, a 6-10 senior at West Virginia, was a top rebounder and scorer for the No. 2 ranked Mountaineers.

Guarilla of George Washington stands 6-6 and is a junior. His work under the boards and his 16.8 scoring average helped George Washington bounce back from a 3-21 season in 1956-57 to a role of darkhorse for the conference title this campaign.

Sharrar and his teammate, Jerry West, came closest to being unanimous choices, polling all but 2 of the 42 ballots cast.

Whitehead And Kist Scheduled To Attend Atlantic City Football Coaches Clinic

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J.—John Whitehead, head coach of Stroudsburg High, and Jack Kist of East Stroudsburg, will attend the eleventh annual National Football Clinic in the Atlantic City convention hall, March 3 through 6.

Dr. Harry G. Scott, director of the country's largest and best known football school, said that he expects in the vicinity of 1,000 high and prep school and college coaches on hand for the four day session.

An outstanding staff of clinicians will lecture and demonstrate the latest developments in the popular gridiron sport as well as impart some of the knowledge that helped to make some of the nation's teams great during the past season. Members of the staff include Bobby Dodd, Georgia Tech; Sam Boyd, Baylor; Andy Gustafson, University of Miami; Earle Edwards, North Carolina State; Blanton Collier, Kentucky; Dave Nelson, Delaware; Jim Bonder, West Chester State Teachers; Vince Lombardi, New York Giants, and John Boyd, Atlantic City High School.

Highlight

One of the highlights of the Clinic will be a special lecture and demonstration on the "fundamentals of kicking, drills and skills" by the great Lou Groza, "the Golden Toe" of the Cleveland Browns and the holder of practically all of the kicking records in the National Football League.

Another big attraction will be the annual banquet with Hugh "Duffy" Daugherty as the speaker of the evening. Duffy, grid mentor of the fine eleven from Michigan State, was the

Straight Ball First; Hook Comes Later

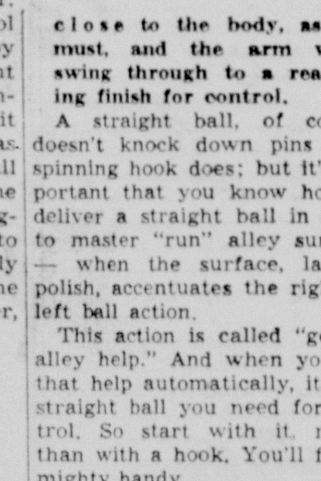

GRANTED, topflight bowlers have perfect hook deliveries. But as beginners, they first had to learn how to deliver a straight ball.

I emphasize that point in teaching because of its eventual value. It's much like the young baseball pitcher who immediately wants to throw curves. A smart coach makes him concentrate on control. Straight ball first, the curves come later.

You see, in bowling, control is determined almost entirely by the position of the thumb. Point your thumb straight ahead, centered on the ball, and keep it that way until you release it. As the sketch shows, and the ball goes straight, rotating all the way. The index and little fingers are spread far enough to support the ball comfortably throughout the swing. Turn the thumb to the left of center, and you get a hook.

Develop Straight Ball

Develop the straight ball first for this reason: With the thumb straight ahead, and kept there, the arm will swing straight back,

Your Horoscope Today

By FRANCIS DRAKE

FOR FRIDAY, FEB. 28, 1958

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—Wait to determine carefully what you should do, then proceed; but be equally careful not to make mistakes through haste or overlooking. Don't depend upon past knowledge only.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus)—Auspicious rays from yesterday's benefic Venus aspect urge you to put forth all sensible effort to gain reward in whatever your field, and make little home improvements, too.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini)—Mercury in propitious position. The fire and ambition generated now can be of great help in finishing up old projects as well as stabilizing new affairs. Go, but without too much gusto.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer)—A conscientious, thorough attitude will put you and help those about you out front in the early and lagging winnings. Control the emotions. Your kind if sturdy patriotism is needed.

July 24 to Aug. 23 (Leo)—Dignity, magnanimity, frankness and trust are strengthened under such aspects as today's when you keep your best self in tune. A healthy co-operative spirit pays.

Aug. 24 to Sept. 23 (Virgo)—And here we note the vitality and coordination so sorely needed these days. Give all you can within reason. It will boost your stock, aid love ones, make you feel good.

Sept. 24 to Oct. 23 (Libra)—Good-natured disposition and thoughtful action (and tact) will hold down errors, make the going smoother for quicker success. Be guarded in associations.

Oct. 24 to Nov. 23 (Scorpio)—By your general stability and direct approach you can make some no-

Schoolboys Open Bids For District Crowns

HARRISBURG, Feb. 27 (AP)—The playoff pace for district titles stepped up across the state today as top teams contended for a shot at the state title.

Sharon, of the powerful WPIAL, began the long road back to repeating its 1957 state championship performance by knocking off South Union, 54-40, in a first round game.

Meanwhile, the first district champion went into the books, following Bedford's win over Somerset for the Dist. 5 title.

In the east Chester's Clippers—1957 state runnerup and in the state playoffs a number of times in the past few years, made it 13 straight by knocking off Lower Merion to grab the Suburban One League flag in Dist. 1, for the fifth straight year.

Chester opens playoff action for the District crown next week against Interboro.

Here's the outlook in the west:

Dist. 7—Lots of action in the area, with a lot of first round games already completed. Prime prospect presently to upend Sharon somewhere in the competition is Ford City.

Dist. 8—The district playoff game, which also will decide the Pittsburgh City title, will be March 7 between Westinghouse, the Section 1 king, and Langley, the Section 2 winner.

Dist. 9—A lot depends on the outcome of a trio of games tomorrow night. DuBois can clinch the Dist. 9 League and District crown at the same time by defeating Bradford.

But the league could be forced into a playoff situation if DuBois loses and either, or both, Kane and Punksstaway win.

In the east:

Dist. 2—Plymouth looks like the winner in the Wyoming Valley League, if it can get past remaining opposition, while Swoyersville is the apparent victor in the north loop.

Dist. 3—York looks like the all-out favorite for the Central Penn circuit and Dist. 3 crowns after extending their unblemished string of wins to 19 on Tuesday.

Sunbury Choice

Dist. 4—Sunbury, the favorite for the district crown continued to show exceptional strength in the Susquehanna League, downing Lewisburg 55-28.

Dist. 11—Fast moving developments in the East Penn League underlined the prospects that defending district champion Allentown can again vie for the title. The Canaries defeated Easton Tuesday to tie up the second half race of the East Penn. If they forge ahead they would still have to meet first winner Bethlehem for the league crown and a shot at retaining its district title.

Whitehead And Kist Scheduled To Attend Atlantic City Football Coaches Clinic

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J.—John Whitehead, head coach of Stroudsburg High, and Jack Kist of East Stroudsburg, will attend the eleventh annual National Football Clinic in the Atlantic City convention hall, March 3 through 6.

Legion Auxiliary To Bowl Today

LEGION Auxiliary League will bowl today at the American Legion alleys, East Stroudsburg, at 7 and 9 p.m. The schedule:

7 p.m.—Alleys one and two—Four Squares vs. Pin Pals; alleys three and four—Ten Pins vs. Comets.

9 p.m.—alleys one and two—Doozies vs. Musketeers.

Selected MVP

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Feb. 27 (AP)—Bill Austin, of Fairwood, Rutgers' all-East halfback, was awarded the Home Hazel Trophy tonight as the most valuable member of the Rutgers 1957 football team.

Does It Double Your Costs To Drive Two Cars?

The truth of the matter is that driving a safe, dependable second car costs very little more than "double-driving" your present car. By eliminating the unnecessary but unavoidable trips you now make, you save greatly on operating and maintenance expenses on your present car. The small additional expense of driving a second car, in many cases, is entirely offset by the savings you make on your present family car.

Before you say "no" to a second car, give one of these reputable dealers a second to show you how easy it is to say "yes".

Hotel Wins Relief From Job Charge

(Record Harrisburg Bureau)
HARRISBURG, Feb. 27.—The State Unemployment Compensation Board of Review has granted Greyhound Inn, Inc., Stroudsburg RD 3, relief from jobless pay charges covering a separated employee.

Greyhound Inn is now known as Bartonsville Hotel.

The referee held originally that "the employer's request for relief from charges must be granted" but the ruling was appealed by the Bureau of Employment Security.

Finding of fact showed that Elizabeth H. Learn, Stroudsburg RD 3, was employed for over six years as a kitchen helper with Greyhound Inn.

Three Months
Testimony revealed that the restaurant is customarily closed for the first three months of the year "because of the weather and lack of business."

While in this layoff status, Elizabeth Learn, according to the board, "secured a better job, where her general condition and status would be improved, and voluntarily resigned from her job with her employer prior to being recalled to work."

The board maintained that "the employer's request for relief from charges must be granted (and that) claimant had good personal cause for leaving her employment, but it was not cause which was attributable to her employment."

THE JUNIOR Crusaders of St. John's Lutheran Sunday School will meet at the parish house on Sunday at 2:30 p.m. There will be an illustrated Bible study, songs and Bible quiz. All children of the area are invited to attend. Parents are welcome too.

Mr. and Mrs. Brittain Detrick and family have moved into their new home between Bartonsville and Snyder'sville.

Mrs. Wilson Merring suffered a heart attack and is now a patient in the Monroe County General Hospital, East Stroudsburg.

The Bartonsville Home Extension Class will hold an all day meeting at the home of Mrs. James N. Canfield Jr. on Wednesday, March 5.

Joseph Starner celebrated his birthday on Feb. 22. Mrs. Maude Bush, Mrs. Ruth Dreux and Mrs. Emma Martz were birthday celebrants on the following day, Feb. 23.

Ronson To Drop Some Fair Trades

NEW YORK, Feb. 27 (AP)—The Ronson Corp. today abandoned fair trade prices for its cigarette lighter, electric shaver and appliance products.

The company added, however, that lighter fuel, flints, wicks and toiletries would still be sold on a fair trade basis.

Ronson's action came in the wake of similar moves yesterday by General Electric Company and the Sunbeam Corp.

Boychoir Camp Set For Shawnee
